We would be more than glad to work with you Gab.com, we also think free speech is important we are an almost 1 year old hosting provider and host multiple free speech chan's and sites and have not bent over to censoring our clients or kicking them out.

If you can grow enough, maybe you can start a domain registrar.

We would be happy if we could, however starting a domain registrar has a big upfront cost and currently for a company like ours its not feasible.

Actually, I think VPS products would be a nice thing to have, if you don't have them already.

I really want to run a Pleroma instance, but of course ISPs block port 80, and even if mine didn't my upload bandwidth is a disappointing 1.2 Mbps.
